Dear Friends,

Greetings from the Jacobs School of Music Office of Development!

In this section, we are excited to share with you some “philanthropic highlights” from this academic year. Also, I am pleased to introduce to you our newest team member, Casey Chell, associate development officer. Casey received her master’s in Arts Administration from IU and comes to the Jacobs School with a background in fundraising for the arts.

Donors like you play a vital role in the Jacobs School and have a direct impact on a number of academic and performing opportunities. Your investment makes possible scholarships, fellowships, faculty research, master classes, streaming of opera and ballet performances, faculty and student recruitment activities, expenses for student conferences and national competitions, and so much more. Many of these initiatives rely solely on private support and come to life only because of you.

We are encouraged by the generosity of the many individuals who provide support, and we want to take this opportunity to thank each and every one of you for your continued investment in the Jacobs School. We would love to hear from you and to learn what we can make possible, together.

Sincerely,

Melissa Korzec
Senior Development Officer

Meet Ann Harrison

Ann Harrison graduated from IU in 1967 with a B.S. in Art Education. Her design background has been helpful in many endeavors, including building a log cabin, which was featured in Architectural Digest and Traditional Home.

Harrison and her husband, Rusty, have lived in Attica, Ind., for the past 38 years, where she is involved with numerous local organizations. In addition, she is a founding member of the Women’s Philanthropic Council, co-chair of Colloquium for Women of IU, and a member of the IU Foundation Board, IU Museum of Art National Advisory Board, and the Jacobs School of Music Dean’s Advisory Board.

After she and a friend wrote Take a Little Thyme, a 500-page collection of family recipes, Harrison was asked to manage the restaurant of Harrison Hills Country Club in Attica, where she worked for 20 years.

Marching Hundred Hall Gift

Indiana University’s famed Marching Hundred band has taken a significant step toward its goal of constructing a new practice facility, thanks to a recent commitment of $1 million in a planned gift from university alumnus Col. Jack I. Hamlin, B.S.’43, and his wife, Dora.

The two met while they were students at IU. He was first-chair cornet in the Marching Hundred and captain of his Reserve Officer Training Corps band unit.

“Col. Jack I. and Dora Hamlin have been incredibly supportive of Indiana University and the Jacobs School of Music,” said Melissa Korzec, head of development at the school. “Their continued generosity will help to provide a bright future for the Marching Hundred.”

Through the support of several private donors, including Cook Group and the Hamlins—whose gift will be administered by the IU Foundation—the Jacobs School currently has more than $2 million dedicated to the $4.5 million project.

The new facility will establish a permanent home for the Marching Hundred, which has been housed in a number of temporary rehearsal spaces for almost 30 years. The lack of indoor space means rehearsals must be canceled due to inclement weather. Since the Marching Hundred is a class for which students receive academic credit, it is a class without a classroom, for which an adequate facility is long overdue.

Elementary School Guitar Project

Students of Templeton Elementary School in Bloomington, Ind., are now receiving guitar instruction as part of their general music class thanks to the Templeton Elementary School Guitar Project.

Each of the 65 first-graders at Templeton now has the opportunity to have a hands-on musical experience with closely monitored instruction from Jacobs School guitar faculty members Petar Jankovic and Atanas Tzvetkov, and several Jacobs guitar majors. The project is designed to develop basic guitar skills while enhancing concepts covered in general elementary music.

Dreams of this project became a reality thanks to generous gifts from both the Yamaha Corporation of America and the IU Foundation’s Women’s Philanthropy Council (WPC). Yamaha provided 30 half-sized guitars and cases, and the WPC made possible funding that will support the project’s teachers.

The initiative is part of an ongoing goal of the Jacobs School to reach out to the greater community through its Elementary Engagement Project (EEP).

The EEP currently has three divisions—the Fairview Elementary School String Project (Bloomington, Ind.), the Attica Elementary School String Project (Attica, Ind.), and the Templeton Elementary School Guitar Project (Bloomington, Ind.).

We thank the Yamaha Corporation of America and the Women’s Philanthropy Council for making possible this unique opportunity in the Bloomington community.
Many Thanks to Our Donors

The Jacobs School of Music wishes to recognize those individuals, corporations, and foundations who have made contributions to the school between January 1, 2011, and December 31, 2011. Those listed here are among the Jacobs School’s most dedicated and involved benefactors, and it is their outstanding generosity that enables the IU Jacobs School of Music to continue to be the finest institution of its kind in the nation.

Dean’s Circle

The Indiana University Jacobs School of Music Dean’s Circle includes individuals dedicated to making a difference in the cultural life of our nation. These unrestricted gifts of opportunity capital support the areas of greatest need, including financial aid, faculty, academic opportunity, and visiting artists.
